As Upland hunters and conservationists, we feel a calling to pursue our passions for the outdoor life. For nearly 60 years the Ruffed Grouse Society and the American Woodcock Society (RGS/AWS) has represented our interests for the upland life with their commitment to enhance young-forest habitat across the country. We are at a critical point in time and need more of us to engage in their mission. Many dedicated people in the Washington D.C. area have inquired about creating a Chapter to make a positive impact on wildlife habitat and forest health. We have a tremendous opportunity to form such a Chapter that will foster fellowship, fuel conservation and share ideas and adventures of the past, present and future.

Feeling compelled to make a difference, I met Dave Hansroth, Regional Director of RGS/AWS to explore next-steps of creating our Chapter. It was apparent the time is right to gather fellow conservationists for a meet-and-greet event on September 17 at the Sheraton Hotel 8661 Leesburg Pike, Tysons Corner, Virginia, from 6:30pm - 9:00pm. Light snacks will be offered, and a cash bar is available as we discuss creating healthy forests, abundant wildlife and promoting the conservation ethic.

Whether you would like to serve as a Chapter volunteer, on a specific committee, or as a board member, please join us for this exciting event. Feel free to bring a friend or two along as well! The more of us working together for a positive change, the more we will accomplish!

We look forward to seeing you! RSVP by September 13 to:
