

The Ruffed Grouse Society & American Woodcock Society conserves healthy forest habitat through active management and creating diversity when and where it's needed most – from family-owned land to entire national forests.

— OUR MISSION —

RGS & AWS unites conservationists to improve wildlife habitat and forest health. Since 1961, RGS has promoted stewardship for our forests, our wildlife, and our future. Our vision is to create landscapes of diverse, functioning forest ecosystems that provide homes for wildlife and opportunities for people to experience them.

— ABOUT —

Our organization headquartered in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, employs a team of forest wildlife conservation professionals to work with private landowners, and government, including local, state and federal land managers who are interested in improving their land for ruffed grouse, American woodcock and the other songbirds and wildlife that have similar requirements.

RGS works with landowners and government agencies to develop critical habitat utilizing scientific management practices. We do this with individualized attention on specific programs to help landowners and by working with local, state and federal governments to develop land management assistance programs.

Curious about upland hunting? Want to know more about scouting for habitat? Shotgunning? Bird dogs? Choosing the right firearm?

Join the Metro NYC Chapter for the first annual RGS & AWS Grouse University! This 1-day learn-to-hunt event will include instruction and discussion on grouse and woodcock hunting, habitat and conservation, along with notes on grouse guns, bird dogs and scouting for places to hunt. If you're interested in learning more about upland hunting, shooting, and conservation, this event is for you!

All participants will receive a 1-year RGS & AWS membership that includes a subscription to Covers magazine, as well as a decal, patch and gift.

Food, drinks, shells and clays are included. Bring your own shotgun or rent one at the venue for an additional $55. Overnight accommodation is also available at the venue for an additional $180.

INCLUDES:

- Morning of instruction and seminars discussing habitat management, scouting, equipment, hunting strategy and more with industry leaders
- Afternoon of upland shooting training and techniques on the sporting clays range including shells and clays
- Meals
- RGS & AWS 1-year membership, gift, patch & decal.
